JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

November 1, 1860.

FOR PRESIDENT.
J. C. BRECKINRIDGE,
OF KENTUCKY.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.
GEN. JOSEPH LANE,
OF OREGON.
DEMOCRATIC ELECTORAL TICKET.

FOR THE STATE AT LARGE.
DAVID HUBBARD OF Lawrence.
FOR THE DISTRICTS.
1. J. S. DICKINSON, OF Clarke.
2. E. S. SHORTER, OF Barbour.
3. C. A. BATTLE, OF Macon.
4. I. W. GARROTT, OF Perry.
5. J. S. KENNEDY, OF Lauderdale.
6. R. C. BRICKEL, OF Madison.
7. R. W. COBB, OF Shelby.

Some time ago, the charge was made that the Vice Presidential nomination on the Douglas ticket, was offered to Mr. Yancy. The charge was at first met by the Douglas papers and politicians, with a flat, unqualified denial. But recently it has been proven true beyond controversy; and now G. N. Saunders, through whom the proposition was made, with the knowledge of Douglas, comes out in a letter, and acknowledges it is true, but says it was only a very good joke.

This reminds us of the young man who, in very good earnest asked a girl to love him. No said she, I have no notion of you. Well, said the young man "what would you have said if I had been in earnest?"

Remember the 6th of November!
Give one day to your Country!

The Charleston Mercury is informed that Wm. B. Astor of New York, has contributed one million of dollars, and some half dozen other merchants another million, to be used in the effort to defeat the election of Lincoln. If there could be a case in which the use of money to control elections would be justifiable, the present one is one; and it is one also, in which the persons who make these enormous expenditures, would be gainers by the transaction if successful in their object.

Goods at Reduced Prices.
It will be seen by reference to the advertisement of Messrs. Blum & Frank, that in consequence of hard times and scarcity they have determined to offer their entire stock of goods, at greatly reduced prices—in fact, many things at cost for cash. Their stock is very large and of good quality, and they will doubtless make it the interest of all who need goods to give them a call.

Don't fail to come out to the Election.
Stir up every lukewarm Neighbor.

We were pleased the other day, to meet with our young friend and townsman, Mr. G. H. FOXLEY, who has been for some months engaged in business in the city of New York; and we express, will return there again in a short time. Mr. Foxley expresses the opinion that Lincoln cannot be defeated in New York.

Jugoslavians Abandoned.—We were shown yesterday, at the shop of Mr. A. Adams, of this place, some very finished and beautiful pieces of machinery for turning iron, cutting screws for bridge bolts, &c. The machinery was patented about a year since by Peter Sellers, and is said to be superior to any thing of the kind. Several piles of screw bolts were lying about intended for bridges on the Ala. & Ten. R. Railroad.

Mr. Adams, is now prepared to make contracts for bridge bolts, and iron for all most every description of machinery.

Have your Tickets ready!

LIEUT. JOHN H. FORNEY, of the 1st S. Army, arrived at this place on Monday last, on his way from New Mexico to West Point New York. We understand, that under appointment, he will remain at the Military Academy at West Point, in the service of the government.

The census returns of the Parish of Concordia La., show a white population of 12,500, and a black population of 12,500. In 1850, 63,288 bales of cotton were raised. The average of wealth, for every white inhabitant of the parish is over $20,000, and an annual income to each of $2,000. This, it is believed cannot be beaten in the world.

Let Calhoun be the Banner Candidate.

We will give in our next paper, all the election returns which reach us, up to the latest hour of publication in time for the mail—besides, we promise our indulgent and generous patrons, knowing that their anxiety will be great to hear the earliest news, to send it out in an extra toll the offices—if not to every reader, at least in sufficient number to disseminate the news generally.

Town Lots.—Many enquiries have been made recently relative to Town lots for sale in this place—their situation, size, location, price, &c. The attention of all such persons is particularly invited to the advertisement of Gen. R. G. EARLE, in another column, who offers for sale sixteen acres of lots, advantageously situated for building and residences. He requests us to say that he will give a bargain in any or all of them.

Errors.—We were absent when the inside of our paper was printed off last week, in which occurred several changes in some of our editorial remarks. In the article relative to the late State elections the word "Ark" is used twice, where it was written, and ought to have been printed Ark. In the 4th line of the same piece the word "changes" ought to have been "news."

Electoral Tickets.

As mentioned in our extra, we send out in each number of this week's paper, in this and adjoining Counties several Tickets; and respectfully request of those who receive them, to keep one for their own use and distribute the others among their neighbors. Those who receive them, but do not desire to vote that way, we hope will also distribute them among their neighbors. We ask this of them as a favor. As written tickets with so many names, would be liable to many errors, printed tickets should be generally adopted, and persons should supply themselves in time. We have adopted the mode above mentioned, in order to disseminate generally a number of tickets—besides which, our Brethren friends in Town have paid for a large number to be sent to the different precincts. Tickets have, and will be deposited at Judge Woods' office, with G. B. Douthett, and at other places in Town, where persons from remote parts of the County can apply for them.

We will also fill orders, if desired, for Bell or Douglas Tickets, at 20 cts. per hundred.

New Grocery and Commission House at Seville.

Particular attention is invited to the card of Messrs. WOODWARD, PORTER & WHITE, Wholesale Grocers and Commission Merchants, Seville, Ala. These gentlemen have been extensively and favorably known in this section of the State, for near a quarter of a century; and those who know them best, will bear us out in the broad assertion, that in all the branches of the business they propose to transact, none more competent, reliable, and devoted to the interest of their patrons, can be found. We hope the name of this firm will be constantly remembered by those who may wish to consign cotton or other produce for sale, or to procure groceries and other supplies.

The Augusta Constitutionalist, the Douglas and Johnson, organ, has the following sensible remarks, in relation to the proposed fusion in Georgia should Lincoln be elected, (against which we still hope) political heading plasters will be as much in demand in the South, as political blister plasters have been before it.

FUSION IN GEORGIA.

We have before stated our conviction that a union of parties in Georgia could be formed—first because we believe second, because we need thirty-two million of votes, which all the South could not make.

The communication of the proprietor of this paper, proposes a joint electoral ticket, for the promotion of fraternal feeling among all parties in Georgia; and for any movement which has for its object the union of all southern men, we give our cordial assent. We want Breckinridge men and Bell men, not for present, but future power. This is with us no party trick, for we propose to ignore all party but the South. And we want the election to close friendly, so that the great southern convention, and the next Legislature, will see all Georgians united on the platform which has for its only policy, LOVE OF THE SOUTH.

A PARTING WORD.

We feel little encouragement to fill this, the last paper we shall issue before the election, with political articles—the argument is exhausted—the appeal must now be to the ballot box. If at the very commencement of the canvass, many things had been known that are now known, we have no doubt that the position of many men would have been different. If it had been seen then, as clearly as it is now, that a distinct sectional issue at the North could only be met by a distinct sectional issue at the South—that our differences, bickering, and re-nominations gave aid and comfort, confidence and zeal to the enemies of the South—that it is as futile to meet distinct sectional issues with timid time-serving compromise as now as it would be to attempt to extinguish fire with oil, the position of many men we think would have been different. What has the South to expect from the will by any party to "consistency" in the South for the sake of any other man?

We repudiate fusion for any other ultimate object than the union of the South for coming events.

Let Calhoun be the Banner Candidate.

We will give in our next paper, all the election returns which reach us, up to the latest hour of publication in time for the mail—besides, we promise our indulgent and generous patrons, knowing that their anxiety will be great to hear the earliest news, to send it out in an extra toll the offices—if not to every reader, at least in sufficient number to disseminate the news generally.

ger. A people purely on the defensive, contending for nothing but their constitutional rights, are bound by every principle of honor and good policy, to dispute every inch of ground. As stated by Mr. Curry, in his speech at Gadsden, that people who will not open up and boldly contend for justice, equality and right, are unworthy the blessings of freedom.

What a sublime spectacle would the South now be, even if overborne and defeated, by presenting a united front against aggression, in this contest. United defeat would be more honorable, give her more moral power, and go farther to avert threatened danger, than victory purchased by indifference and cowardly compromise. Then friends, let us go to the polls, forgetful of all political prejudices, rising above minor differences, when compared to the great issue before us, with the proud consciousness that we desire nothing but what is right, and determined not to submit to anything that is wrong.

South Carolina.—The Governor of South Carolina has issued his proclamation concerning an extra session of the Legislature on Monday next, the 5th day of November, for the purpose of appointing Electors of President and Vice President; "and also that they may, if advisable, take action for the safety of the State."

The attention of land buyers is invited to the extensive land sale advertisement in our last and present issues, by Abel Phillips and C. W. P. Phillips, Administrators of Joseph Phillips, dec'd. A large portion of these lands are of very superior character, with Mills, Mill seats and many other advantages, for particulars of which the reader is referred to the advertisement.

JACKSONVILLE INSURANCE COMPANY.

We learn that the fifty thousand dollars of stock, required by the charter to be taken, preparatory to the organization of this company, was promptly taken last week by the following named gentlemen:

Hon. T. A. Walker, $10,000
B. L. Woodward, 10,000
J. D. Porter, 10,000
Wm. White, 10,000
Dr. C. J. Clark, 5,000
J. C. Wyle, 5,000

We presume the company will organize in a short time and proceed to business.

Great Mass Meeting at Gadsden.

John T. Morgan, Esq. and other distinguished speakers, who had been invited failed to attend. At the suggestion of Mr. Curry, speech, the people were invited to a beautiful request, prepared at the place before stated, the tables near the river being assigned to the ladies, who were first conducted thither, by the Marshal and officers of the day.

After dinner, the crowd was again assembled at the stand, and the subject of the day, was read by Mr. Clare of Cherokee, who followed the reading with some eloquent and appropriate remarks, showing that he possessed the graces and powers of oratory in no small degree; he gave away, when we would have him heard him longer, under the impression that there were others, that the audience wished to hear.

We understood that Mr. Clare has done very faithful and effective service in this campaign in Cherokee and adjoining Counties, for which we hope he may be both remembered and rewarded by the True Democracy.

Hon. J. H. Wright of this place was next called upon, but not being present, he did not speak, and in a short time, the immense, orderly and attentive audience was dismissed, with the thanks of the President.

The number of people was variously estimated at from three to five thousand, and it is said, would have been much larger, but for the fact that the people were so much sojourning in session. We have never witnessed in any place, more sobriety, order, decorum and harmony, where so large a number of people were congregated at a political meeting.

Much credit is due to Messrs. D. A. Miller, R. B. Kyle, J. P. Morgan, W. P. Hollingsworth, and other officers, committee men and citizens, for the freedom of the ferry, their liberal contributions, and vigilant exertions for the convenience of the people assembled.

The following are the letters received from some of the invited speakers, and read by Mr. Clare, of Cherokee:

WETUMKA, ALA. Oct. 8, 1860.

Gentlemen:—Your favor of the 1st inst., inviting me to attend a "mass meeting of the True Democracy" to be held on the 19th inst., at Gadsden, has just been received.

There is no portion of Alabama where I have received a more uniform support, since I have been engaged in public life, than your own immediate county. No have no more pleasure in social or political intercourse than your own. But my engagements are such that I will not be able to be with you on that occasion.

The unhappy divisions of the Democracy which characterized the deliberations of our late Conventions, and the subsequent course of the country, which followed, and now exist throughout the Union, are causes for deep regret, not only to all democrats but to all patriots, and all who desire the peace and unity of the country. Hardly does it need to be said that no one has felt more regret at this than I have. There is no period in the history of the country, since my recollection, when the State stood more in need of the united counsel, and the united action of all her people, to counteract and defeat the division of such as Lincoln and Hamilton—candidates nominated upon principles, which are not only degrading to us, as a section, but which, if carried out, will end in our ruin.

Messrs. Breckinridge & Lane having been nominated upon a platform, which declares principles in accordance with my views of constitutional right and power, and especially upon the absolute question of the territories, I have, as you are aware, a reference for them. I will give you pleasure, therefore, if I can, by doing so. I feel sure that you will be glad to hear from me, and know that I am a sound, reliable, constitutional and conservative man, and if my speech will be faithful to the principles and the interests of all sections respected.

Very Respectfully,
Your Obedt. Servant,
HEN. FITZPATRICK.

Messrs. W. P. Morgan, D. C. Webb, R. B. Kyle, W. P. Hollingsworth, B. B. Whitton, R. B. Kyle, Richard W. Yarn, D. A. Miller, Committee of Invitation.

The following is also an extract from a letter received by the Committee, from Virgil S. Murphree, of Montgomery:

"The great issue involved in this canvass, stripped of the miserable sophistries thrown around it, by interested partisans, is, whether we shall hold our slave property in peace and tranquility in the states, and emigrate with it to the common territory of this Union unimpeded by territorial restrictions. This system of labor, so often sneeringly termed, the 'peculiar institutions of the South'—(peculiar only from the great benefits it confers upon both races and the mighty practical results of the working, has become so intimately blended with our safety and happiness—our past and our future that not to sustain and defend it, is inevitable destruction. Experience has demonstrated that expansion is the law of its nature, and restriction its sentence of death. Can we then support Mr. Douglass with his territorial dogma, which is carried out, 'is but a short cut to the ends of Black Republicanism.' He who in his Norfolk manifesto of defiance to the Union, and the principles of democracy and removed the last barrier between him and Black Republicanism. Clearly then he is not the man for us to follow."

Can we find safety in that string of meaningless and powerless generalities, called, 'the Union the Constitution and the enforcement of the laws? Does it assert one single constitutional principle? Does it forebode any policy which will guide Mr. Bell (if elected) in the administration of the government? Clearly not. If you will permit me to coin a word, I should call this platform a complete exposure of all vital issues and needs but to the people, and a final time serving politician, to control its destinies. In Breckinridge and Lane we find all the requisites of a true constitutional ticket. In the present young statesman of the age, who has served his country with honor and fidelity in every high trust and importance. In the South, we have the true and noble, earnest old hero of Buena Vista, who stood by his country's flag on foreign fields where 'death came careering on the gale' and 'our man's mouth an imperishable name.'"

Lafayette, Ala. Oct. 15, 1860.

Gentlemen:—Your kind favor of the 2nd inst., inviting me to be present at a Mass Meeting of the Breckinridge and Lane party, was duly received. I am glad to have had a short time since. It is needless for me to assure you how much pleasure it would give me to meet my old friends on such an occasion, and unite with them in their efforts to advance the cause of Southern rights and Constitutional equality, but it will not be my purpose to do so, my fear is, in the event of the election of Lincoln, the cause of the people, and notwithstanding the darkness which now surrounds us, my confidence in its ultimate triumph is not diminished. We may be borne down by superior numbers for awhile, but holding the truth in our possession, we shall not fail of victory in the end. I am, therefore, for the Constitutional equality. It is much to be regretted that the South does not present unbroken columns. She is in a minority, and the safety of her rights depends upon a true interpretation of the Constitution, and an administration of the Government in strict accordance with its letter and spirit. The only way to secure this, is a national majority, in contempt of its limitations, govern me at discretion? Upon this issue, every right sacred to freedom is put in jeopardy.

How in parties stand in the controversy. Those who follow the banner of Bell & Everett, unable to get clear of the mists and fogs of party prejudice, and intent mainly on defeating the democracy, observe ominous silence on the great question, whilst Douglas and his partisans divide by a plea of popular sovereignty, and attempt to confuse the issue. The only issue sustained by the State right men of all parties, North and South, openly and unequivocally joins issue with the Black Republicans, and demands the full measure of our rights. We can follow his flag with safety and honor, for upon it we find written, Liberty and Union, under which no one of us incurs a Constitutional union.

In such a noble cause, with such a gallant leader, with brave hearts, true to the impulses of patriotism for followers, shall we fail? Surely not. I have confidence in the banner of truth, and will still hope for the Republic not only to endure, but to flourish. The South will give her whole electoral vote for Breckinridge & Lane. This will secure harmony in our councils, should fanaticism enter the North and force us to another struggle for our Constitutional rights. We should stand prepared for the worst, and if I do not mistake the courage of the people, they will prove true to the revolutionary blood, and be found equal to the emergency of defending their liberties at any and all times. Hoping that you may have a large meeting and that much good may be done, I remain with great respect, your obedient servant,
J. C. DOWDELL.

Montgomery, Oct. 16, 1860.

Messrs. W. B. WYNN, J. P. MORAGNE, and others, Committee of Invitation:

Gentlemen:—Your invitation to me to attend the Mass Meeting of the Friends of Breckinridge & Lane, on the 24th inst., at Gadsden, was received yesterday. I fear and believe previous engagements will prevent my attendance. If however I can attend consistently with such engagements, it will afford me great pleasure to do so.

Feeling a deep concern in all that is calculated to advance the great cause of the equality of the States, and the equality of rights to all citizens of every section of the Union, I can but feel a lively interest in the success of Breckinridge & Lane, the true expounders and representatives of that great cause. With great respect,
SAMUEL F. RICE.

Cincinnati Dog Market.

At Cincinnati, during the past week, dogs on the spot declined 25c. per cent, during the week, closing on Tuesday last at $5.75 to $5.50 for dog and $5.50 to $5.75 for corn fattened per cent.

For future delivery prices have been easier; 4,000 head sold at $5.50, to be delivered in the first three weeks of November, and $5.25 for the balance, closing with a fair demand at these rates, and not many offering.

We most earnestly ask every friend of Bell and Douglas, into whose hands this copy of our paper may fall, even at this eleventh hour, to read the following article from the Cincinnati Courier. When Northern papers can be thus bold and outspoken in favor of equality and justice to the South, is it not profoundly humiliating to hear Southern politicians, apologizing for their enemies, proposing to compromise away constitutional rights, and pledging these lives in advance to the support of Lincoln, the "irrepressible conflict" candidate, and the endorser of Ulpers' infamous "Impending Crisis?"

The Union—No Peace Friends and No Compromise.—That the permanency of the Union is at this time endangered, says the Cincinnati Courier is conceded by one, the licks which have bound our people together have been severed by geographical lines; political parties have been sectionalized, and all minor issues have been swallowed up in the great and overwhelming issue. Shall the people of the South enjoy an equality of rights with the citizens of the North? Upon the decision of this question, disfigure it as you may, depends the perpetuity of the Union. The issue is one which he believes that the South will submit to be degraded in the Union.

This Union must be a Union of equal States, or it will cease to be a Union as formed by our fathers. All acknowledge that the Union is in danger, from the sectionalism which manifest itself both in the North and in the South, and some have proposed to meet the impending danger by the formation of a Union-saving party, whose object evidently is to save the Union by sacrificing the constitutional rights of at least one section of the Union.

The design of the party has never been clearly defined or understood. But in our judgment, its formation will be productive of evil. This careless cry of 'Union! Union!' on the part of the Union party South, to use the argument of another, is an advertisement to the people of the North that they may commit aggression upon the rights of the South, and still the people of the South will patiently submit.

But in our judgment, its formation will be productive of evil. This careless cry of 'Union! Union!' on the part of the Union party South, to use the argument of another, is an advertisement to the people of the North that they may commit aggression upon the rights of the South, and still the people of the South will patiently submit.

We hold, therefore, that this UNION MOVEMENT GIVES AID AND COMFORT TO THE BLACK REPUBLICAN PARTY BY BRINGING THEM ON THE AGGRESSIVE COURSE, AND BY INVITING THEM TO MAKE WAR ON THE INSTITUTIONS OF THE SOUTH. IF THE SOUTH, INSTEAD OF BEING DIVIDED, SHOULD STAND UP FIRMLY FOR HER CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS, THE PEOPLE OF THE NORTH WOULD HONOR AND RESPECT HER.

The present contest involves the equality of the rights of the citizens of the South in the Union. On this issue the South should stand united—true to herself. If she abandons her rights, she can expect the true men of the North to stand up in her defense. It is urged against the supporters of Mr. Breckinridge that they are in favor of a dissolution of the Union. The truth is, the party which supports him is the only party whose principles are broad enough to embrace the whole country. Its principles are national—its organization national—and its candidates national.

The enemies of the Union are those who propose to compromise away constitutional rights; who propose to submit to wrong and injustice; who seek to strengthen the position Black Republican party by securing them the South will quietly submit to all they may inflict upon them.

The South will stand by the Union so long as her rights are respected and equality preserved. If the Union is ever dissolved it will be done by the persistent disregard of the requirements of the Federal Constitution and the continued aggression upon the rights and institutions of the South. The North may drive the South to disunion, but the South will never abandon the Union until driven to do so by the North. It, therefore, becomes the duty of the North to pause and reflect upon the consequences which will result from the election of a Black Republican President and the attempt to carry out a purely sectional policy. Such policy may destroy the Union. It is a fearful experiment. Why shall it be attempted?

A well-known gentleman of this city, an Old Line Whig, and up to this moment a strong Union man, has returned from a Southern tour recently in favor of Breckinridge. In conversation with a number of Breckinridgeites about the recent Northern elections, he asked: "Do you suppose this result would have taken place had it not been for the Union?" He can but all the life-longing and Union-shunning of the South?" That is, at the point, The Black Republicans, when they were told that disunion might result if they had chosen, very justly answered that they had no fears of that, so long as a large party in the South proclaimed its determination to be delivered by the Union at all hazards. The Breckinridgeites could keep the Democrats in check while the Lincolnsites were in the Federal Government.—N. O. Delta.
